

I Created You

I created you the way you are for my purpose; you are my creation. Please do not be frustrated my child. I did not intend for life to be easy. Rewarding? Yes, it can be, but not easy. I uniquely create all my children just the way I want them, which shows you how much I care about you and love you. Your character and personality is my special mix. Yes, you will struggle with it, especially when you compare yourself with others. If I had wanted you like them, I would have created you that way. So, be content my child; there is grace ahead for you, if you trust me. Your strength is not in looking back and lamenting over past failures but looking ahead in faith and trust.

It is very presumptuous to assume someone does not like us. Everyone has flaws. In fact, it's those flaws in two individuals which cause strife. To dislike ourselves is to dislike God's creation.

God's refining fire, recreates us to His image, His purpose! God did not finish our creation process the minute we were born; we daily are recreated to His divine purpose.

Acceptance is the essence of being poured into God's mold. Comparing ourselves with others, is thinking we know better than God.

Humility and Love are the universal texture of God's mold; the shape may be different, as well as color and size, but it has the same texture and fragrance; it is His unique logo.
